Unfamiliarity With Country Gets Invaders Into Trouble and Losses Are Heavy

By Associated Press

Paris Oct 6 1 a m Despite yesterday's announcement that the situation had evolved somewhat considerably to the disadvantage today on the allies success in the great action on the left wing of battle in northern France the expression north of the Oise has appeared for the first time in a war office statement In all now all the combat fought on the right bank of the Oise has been north east either in the region of Lassigny or west in the Somme in the Oise there is much speculation on the fortune in that vicinity which can be of great vital importance The familiarity of the French with the battle ground is of considerable advantage to them

The marshes of St Gond near the fork Marne River are said in the crisis and there the German military preparations for a surprise attack The French however have turned the tables simply by taking advantage of the German mistake in the French artillery stuck to their posts and with the enemy was in disarray on solid ground annihilating them with their artillery fire Fortunately for the French and British within to repel attacks in the west

Capture Of Important Fort In France Claimed—Report Says Russians Were Defeated

By Associated Press.

Five French officers and more than 500 men were made prisoners; the remainder of the French force perished in the ruins of the casements.

It is officially stated the Russians were completely deefated near Suwalki and Augustowo on the east Prussian frontier October 1 and 2. The Germans took 3000 prisoners and captured eighteen cannon and many machine guns. The situation, it is announced, is hopeful everywhere for the Germans and Austrians.

FRENCH OFFICIAL REPORT SAYS LEFT WING IS WIDENING MORE AND MORE

By Associated Press.

Paris, Oct. 6.—3:04 p. m. The following official communication was given out here this afternoon:

"On our left wing, the front is extending more widely. Important masses of German cavalry have ben reported in the environs of Lille, coming from forces of the eenmy which are making a movement in the region to the north line between Tourcoig, seven miles northeast of Lille and Armentieres, nine mlies northwest of Lille.

"In the vicinity of Arras and on the right bank of the River Somme, the situation shows little change. Between the Somme and the Oise there have been alternate advances and withdrawals. Near Lassigny, the enemy undertook an important attack which however failed.

"On the right bank of the Aisne, north of Soisson, we have with the cooperation of the British army, made a slight advance. We also have made some progress in the vicinity of Berry-au-Baue. There is nothing to report from the rest of the front.

"In Belgium, the Belgian forces defending Antwerp have occupied strongly the line between the River Rupel and the River Nethe. Against this line the attacks of the Germans have failed."

RUSSIAN FRONTIER FIGHT OF SUPREME IMPORTANCE

May Mark Climax Of War—Official Bureaus Give Out Little Information Today

By Associated Press.

London, Oct. 6.—1:10 p. m.. Never since it started has the battle of the Aisne, which has become virtually a siege of the German positions on the Oise and north of this river, shown such a dearth of news as on this, the twenty-fifth day of the struggle. The British information bureau, never profuse, completely closed down on current events from the front several days ago, and it probably will so continue until Sir John French puts his army in motion again.

The reticence of the Paris official communication last night was even more marked than customary. That the allies for the moment possess greater mobility than their foes seems indicated by the news that they have raided German lines of communication, cut a railroad and destroyed a train belonging to the artillery of the German Imperial Guard. This is a hint borrowed from the Russians, whose flanking methods appear to have contributed greatly to the German undoing in the eastern war arena.

The French ministry of war, explaining the necessity for official communication being short, says it is useless to be more explicit if the battles in the valleys of the Aisne and the Somme are not finished. The authorities know the conflict will be tedious and prolonged before a decisive result is obtained. As the enormous wastage in horses progresses it is claimed the allies will increase their possibility for cavalry movement while the German cavalry operations decrease. German cavalrymen on bicycles already are a common sight and the Russian advance which is cutting Germany off from the horse producing district of Hungary, if maintained further, must increase the shortage in horses.

Victory for one side or the other along the Russion frontier is of supreme importance and may mark the climax of the war. Military experts are beginning to appreciate the fact that attacks now being made on either flank of the army in France are not entirely turning movements which depend for their effectiveness on speed and surprise; little evidence of either has been shown on the allies' left. If the Russians win a great victory in the east, it will compel the Germans to divert some of their western army and flank movements will crumple up the depleted Germans. If the Russians are defeated, some of the German veterans will be released for service in the west and the German army may pierce the allies' line.

According to the experts whichever side can extend its line farthest without weakening its front should win the battle of the Aisne. Hence the crucial importance of the Russian battle. The battle line along the Russian border is not continuous, but the intervals separating the various armies are comparatively small gaps and the whole territory along the frontier from Tilsit on the northeast border of Prussia, to Dukla Pass, in the Carpathians, bristles with armies. No battle front extends beyond Dukla Pass, but small mobile Russian forces are harassing the plains of Hungary. The longest continuous Russian line extends from Dukla Pass to a point almost on the Vistula river, a short distance from Warsaw. This is composed of the armies which swept over Galicia and is now the instrument of the projected invasion of Silesia.

A STATEMENT OF THE LAUNDRY WORKERS SIDE

The Times has been requested by the striking laundry workers to publish the following communication which was published last week in the Union Leader

TO THE PEOPLE OF WICHITA FALLS

I have been requested by a number of people to give a clear statement in behalf of the Laundry Workers Union No 54 This I am going to do to the best of my knowledge

Now the union first started at the Model Laundry, as I guess the people all know while Arthur & McCoy were proprietors We all know they had trouble to begin with and we will admit that the laundry workers of the Model Laundry pulled off a little bit of a bone head as well as Mr Arthur and Mr McCoy, but nevertheless they got their contract signed after all of Mr Pond's hard figthing to keep them from signing Now I want to say while they were having their trouble at the Model Laundry the Acme laundry crew was going right ahead and tending to its own business and we were not agitating union in any way and from what I can learn Pond's crew was doing the same Now the next thing we heard was that the Model Laundry had signed the contract So this news of Arthur & McCoy signing the contract got J W Pond of Pond's Laundry and McHam & Ross, the Acme proprietors, busy for they could feel themselves slipping if they were not in the union too So Mr Pond went after J A Burton the local organizer here to come down to his laundry and bring application blanks and take the applications of all his help so they could come in the union, which Mr Burton did, and Mr Pond told Mr Burton that they all had to come in the union and pay their dues if they worked in his laundry and Mr Pond got these applications signed by his help and carried them up to the Trades Council hall Now I know this to be a fact So McHam and Ross came to us at the Acme Laundry and said as the Model Laundry had signed up that all we could do was to give in our applications and come in the union too, and if we didn't we would lose our jobs So Mr Maupin and Mr Morrow came down one day at noon and took our applications some twenty one or twenty three members, and I think the next evening we took the obligation I know they let the girls off a little early to go up to the hall so we could get in as quick as possible, and they told me as soon as we got in for them to bring the contract around and they would sign it, so just before they came around with the contract to be signed Mr Ross' father took very ill and he left for Oklahoma and was gone for two or three weeks Well nothing was said about the contract for a few days after he came back and we thought he might be bothered about his father Anyway we never dreamed but what we could get the contract signed just any time as they had pushed us along to get us in But just a few days after Mr Ross came back from Oklahoma where his father was sick, Mr R H Clark from Dallas, bought the Model Laundry from Arthur & McCoy So Mr Pond went to see Mr Clark as soon as he had a chance and found out how he stood on organized labor Now Mr Pond reported to me that he (Mr Clark) was very much opposed to the union Now I don't make this statement that Mr Clark said this to Mr Pond but I do make the statement that Mr Pond told me this right in front of his laundry, and the reply I made to Mr Pond was "just let him fight it and see how long he lasts"

It seems very strange to me and it is something I don't understand as to what brought the sudden change in Mr Pond and our proprietors of the Acme Laundry Of course when Mr Clark bought the Model Laundry that annulled the contract with the Model Laundry but they drew up another contract for him and a committee from the Trades Council and Laundry Workers Union went and presented the contract to him to sign and he told the committee he was a new man here and new in the laundry business and he thought that Pond or McHam & Ross ought to sign first as they were the oldest laundry men in town, and he also said if the other two laundries would sign he would sign with them So the same committee went to the Acme and they said that Mr Clark was the one to sign first as the union started there The committee from the Trades Council has never been able to get Mr Pond to meet them, but the laundry workers' committee saw Mr Pond and he told them Mr Clark was the man to sign first Now we know the union started at the Model all right, and they signed the contract, too

We have worked about three or four weeks and have given them everything in the contract that they have asked for in order so we could go on and not lose our jobs, but it has all been in vain, for we had a meeting with the proprietors of the three laundries last Saturday night a week ago and Mr Pond informed the committee of about eight laundry workers and Mr J A Burton, our local organizer, that they couldn't sign our contracts Now we haven't asked for a thing in the contract only the four holidays and to recognize the union The most of us were drawing more than the scale of wages in the contract The proprietors of the laundries say that there is nothing in the contract to hurt them so it looks as if they just want to fight organized labor The Acme proprietors have made the remark to me and others that all they hate is that they got their help in the union

Now I want to ask the people of Wichita Falls if they think we are getting a square deal from our proprietors We want in for the welfare of them as much as for ourselves and they knew it was to their interest or they wouldn't have asked us to go in the union Now all you ladies and gentlemen of Wichita Falls who have taken obligations of any secret order know the obligation that we are under Now when you place your left hand over your heart and your right hand up and take an oath that you will do your duty to the best of your knowledge and if you don't do it you are devoid of honor and destitute of principle So you people who can see what we are up against Its walk out or fall at our proprietors feet and say I surrender all and I am proud to say that we have got a body of people in the laundries here that will walk out and quit their jobs before they will break their word and honor, and I know we all need work We have got to work to live Some of these women and men have bought houses and are paying for them monthly, and if we do not get our contracts signed they are liable to lose them after all their faithful work Now it is enough to start the tears flowing down our cheeks to think of about forty or fifty girls being thrown out of a job by something the proprietors have put upon them themselves Now there are seventy five or one hundred laundry workers in this town and we all spend our weekly and monthly earnings here in Wichita Falls and our faces are fair that to the merchants and business men of the city and they are glad to see us come in their places of business Why? Because we spend our money with them and they know the majority of us are honest in our dealings

Now do the citizens of Wichita Falls want to see this body of girls and men lose their jobs and go out in other fields to look for work and strange faces come in here from other cities and "scab" on us and take our jobs that we have faithfully stayed with for a number of years If you don't please lend us your helping hand and help us to get square so we can go to work and feel at home as we have heretofore We are only pleading for our honest and just rights, and as I have stated the honest fact as to how we come to be in the union I am going to ask all the people in behalf of our laundry girls to help us in our cause

The School Savings Department Will be Opened the First Monday in October

There was so much interest manifested the short time it run last year, by the children, that the teachers and the bank feel amply repaid for their extra trouble and expense, in trying to teach the children, as we think one of the most important lessons to be learned—THAT OF SAVING—AND WHAT SYSTEMATIC SAVING WILL DO.

This department was introduced and run less than three months last year and at the close of school there were 388 children depositing with their teachers and had a total deposit of $1092.42. This we consider a very fine showing.

For further information as to prizes, etc., call the bank or your teacher.

A GARDEN.

The tiny snowdrop ushers in the year
The crocus falls, ere March wind music hills
The golden trumpets of the daffodils,
Then soon like eastern potentates appear
The turbaned tulips; now young June distils
The precious odors of the earliest rose;
With lupins blue and white the garden glows,
The steepled foxglove peals its tapering bells * * *
And trailing honeysuckle sweetly smells,
Like floating buterflies the gay sweet peas
Dance on their way to welcome blithe July,
Whose kirtle's border, as she passes by
Small pansies kiss; the larkspur, loved of bees,
Uplifts its fretted spires against the sky,
* * * with autumn you may view
The starry asters, a resplendent host;
Chrysanthemums their orient lineage boast
And Christmas roses bid the year adieu,

If you are among the "small ones" in the world of finance and most business men, no matter what their specialty is, are you have, without doubt, felt the crushing heel at one time or another of "big business" The heart which flushes the arteries of the commercial world is the bank and when the bank, no matter through what medium, turns its thumbs down you must retire from the arena of industrial strife. Personal neglect or nefficiency may spell your failure some time—but that accusation is very often unjustly directed against a man when, if the truth could be known, he went to the wall fighting every inch against odds over which he had no power

Now James Bryant did not amount much in the world of business—but he had an invention which he felt was worth big money. James Bryant lived in a thriving western town With the apparent confidence of the local banker to support him, Bryant lived in a thriving western something happened. You might call it fate—many people look at it that way. In the end Bryant was restored; and fate is ready to admit her share in that scheme But as to the other—there is a question.

"The Jack Pot Club" is the human interest story of James Bryant told in a dramatic, interesting way. One

Each succeeding day the press dispatches tell us the allies are making steady progress, but the Germans seem to be right where they were twenty days ago.

One thing about the approaching world's series—when a team gets beaten it won't call it a strategic retirement."

With Przemysl and Neufchateau in Europe, Chihuahua and Oaxaca still holding out in Mexico and such things as Kiao Chau and Tsing Tau across the Pacific, these are indeed joyous days for proof readers.

A contributor to Everybody's Magazine tells how an irate woman cured her husband of the drink habit after he had spent money on "booze" that she had planned to use for getting needed clothes for the children. She says: "I just let him go to bed, and after he's been sleeping long enough to be pretty near sober I goes and sews him up in the bed clothes, takes a broomstick and pounds the devil out of 'im, and I've never had a day's worry since." It takes heroic remedies to meet desperate cases, and there will be few who will not agree that this wife made use of the right remedy at the right time. There are more ways than one for exercising the "devil" that sometimes gets in men—and women, too. Houston Post.

A movement is on foot to send a "Christmas ship" to Europe from Texas in December, so that the children of the soldiers on the firing line may not be totally overlooked. The plan is to send an immense consignment of Texas pecans and peanuts, among other things, for the children on the other side. Texas raises a large amount of both pecans and peanuts and it is thought that such a gift would be an appropriate one. It looks now like the approaching Christmas will be one of the grimest the world has ever seen. Men who observed it last December in the happiness and comfort of their homes will be standing in snowy trenches or buried already underneath some battlefield. In Europe, the coming of Christmas will but serve to accentuate the suffering, the privation and the destitution. At best it will be a travesty; yet we on this side can bring a little cheer and a little light. The Times hopes the "Christmas ship" will sail in the time, with a full cargo.

THE COTTON MILLS OF TEXAS.

Comparatively few people know that there are sixteen cotton mills now in successful operation in Texas. One of these mills, located at Post City, and established by the late C. W. Post, is unique in the number of processes to which it submits the cotton. Most mills are devoted to a since process or at more two or three. The Post from the farmer's wagon and carries from the farmer's wagon and carries it through every process of manufacture until it is converted into sheets and pillow cases of highest quality. The cotton is ginned, spun and woven, bleached and hemmed, the finished product being ready for the ultimate consumer. It is stated that this mill pays its women employes from $12 to $20 a week, competes in the markets of the world with the best products of the eastern mills and makes a handsome profit under an efficient management. If such a mill is a profitable investment in this West Texas town, it would be well for Texans to study its methods and management and plan to establish mills over the State to handle the biggest money crop of the State.—Wills Point Chronicle.

NEWS OF WAR

(Wall Street Journal)

It is one of the grim realities of war that men are far cheaper than horses. They can be more easily replaced. They are not so costly to feed; nor does what they eat involve the bulk of transport necessary to sustain a large cavalry force. The horse is a commodity whose price may be expected to advance in this country most rapidly. No doubt the buying will be through private agencies but the destination will be the field of battle and the nation which commands the sea is likely to have first pick.

When an advance is checked, much is said about the exhaustion of the men. Exhaustion of the horses is a far more serious matter, because the men can soon rest or be recruited, but the lost horses can only be replaced at a costly expenditure of time. No doubt the motor is responsible for much transportation in the present war, but it cannot handle artillery in the field, and cavalry cannot charge on motorcycles.

In the German staff record and the study of the Boer war, the highest praise of any general, after Lord Kitchener, was given to the present Field Marshal French. He has the rare talent of handling cavalry in a mass. Cavalry generals are born rather than made, and the German staff paid him the compliment of likening him to Ney and Sheridan. It must gratify them to find how accurate their judgement was.

But French used up his horses in the Boer war at a rate which scared the war office and the British taxpayer, two institutions which do not always realize that you cannot have omelettes without breaking eggs. General French's cavalry tactics in the present campaign have won unstinted praise from expert critics. But he must have used up horses at a rate which may easily explain why the Germans have been able to reform their lines behind Aisne—a maneuver perhaps principally intended to restore the lines of communication, and to repair damages.

The world supply of horses is limited, and the effect of commandeering is likely to be felt in next year's plowing to say nothing of the harvest. It is well enough to talk of women and old men attending and sowing and harvesting. But the horse is an imperative necessity in such agricultural work, and his absence will be severely felt.

The horse is indeed one of the sinews of war. Perhaps another, equally important, though different is gasoline. The exhaustion of the two essentials may be a matter of life and death to Germany at no distant date.

At a conference of representative bankers of the South, held at St. Louis yesterday, a plan was launched for the raising of $150,000,000 to be loaned on cotton at not more than six cents per pound, and the plan has been or will be submitted to Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo for his endorsement or approval before its final adoption. It is proposed the fund for this purpose be subscribed by National and State banks, trust companies and mercantile and manufacturing establishments throughout the whole of the United States. It is estimated that the $150,000,000 cotton loan will take care of at least 5,000,000 bales, which is about the amount of the surplus cotton or overproduction for this year.

GEORGE DOBSON IN RUNAWAY BUT ESCAPES UNINJURED

Street Superintendent George Dobson rode nearly the entire length of Seventh street this afternoon behind a runaway horse and escaped without a scratch. The horse was sthe big gray animal which the street superintendent usually drives. The runaway started on the east side of the Fort Worth & Denver tracks where the city forces are at work today. The horse ran on Seventh street through the business section of the city with Mr. Dobson pulling vainly on the reins the bridle bits having broken in two. The animal ran madly out on Seventh, started up the hill at Burnett and came to an abrupt stop at the city stables several blocks beyond the hill. Mr. Dobson was unhurt.

TEXANS RESCUED FROM KNIFE BY WONDERFUL STOMACH REMEDY

Find Swift Relief From Ailments of Years' Standing With First Dose of Treatment

Many Texans needlessly suffer from stomach ailments and disorders of the digestive tract which appear to be particularly prevalent in the South. Many others have found a way to health by the use of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy.

The first dose of this remedy proves what it will do.

T. B. Goodpasture, 802 Sabine St., Houston, Texas, wrote: "I took treatment last spring. I don't think I will have to take any more—it completely cured me."

R. L. Randell, Laredo, Texas, wrote: "I have just finished my fifth bottle of your stomach treatment and passed several gall stones. Your preparation has worked simply wonderfully during my course of treatment."

These people know, because they took and proved it. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy shows you right away. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and removes poisonous matter. It gives quick relief to sufferers from ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels. Many say it has saved them from dangerous operations; many are sure it has saved their lives.

The wonderful success of this remedy has caused many imitators, so be cautious. Be sure it's Mayr's. Probably your own neighbors know about the remedy. Go to Fooshee & Lynch and ask about the wonderful results it has been accomplishing among people they know—or write to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist will tell you its wonderful effects. (Advt)

TO the large number who honored us with their presence at the formal opening of our new store last evening, we wish to express our appeciation for their manifestation of interest. We trust that all were pleasantly entertained as was contemplated in our preparation of the program.

UNIVERSITY ENROLLMENT INCREASES DESPITE WAR

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 6.—Curtailment of finances resulting from the European war apparently has had no effect upon Texans seeking an education, if the enrollment at the University of Texas is to be taken as a standard by which to judge. The total number of students enrolled, according to the latest figures made public several days after college opened, is 2,062, just ten more students at the same time last year. New students still were coming in last week and when another list is given out it was expected that there will be some 200 more than last year. It was believed today that this would tax the school's limit, especially as it is being operated on a limited amount of funds, the governor having vetoed the second year's appropriations of $700,000, which would have been available September 1, of this year.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

At the Schlitz bar his check was also for $18 50, but he had spent most of this and was able to restore only $4.50 to the proprietor of the bar. All the checks bore the forged signature of J C Hunt and each was for $18.50, made payable to T. J. Schofield. He admitted that this was not his real name, but registered under different names at the city jail where he was first taken and at the county jail, where he is now held. On Paper Braves Have Shade Best Of Champion Mackmen

New York, Oct. 5.—The Boston Braves have a mighty fine chance of winning the world series in the clash with the Athletics.

Fandom in general seems to be spoofing the chances of the Braves in such a battle. But fandom does so without taking into consideration these highly important facts:

1 The team that the Braves would send into battle with the Athletics is, at the present writing outhitting the slugging Athletics by two points.

2. The Braves' regulars are fielding thirteen points better than the Athletic regulars.

3 The Braves' pitchers—James Rudolph and Tyler—who will be hurled against the Athletics, are about the equal in pitching skill of the three best men the Aethletics can pit against the Braves

4. The Athletics are in something of a slump that may continue right through the series.

5. The Braves, confident and full of fight, and with spirits high because of their phenomenal spurt during the past two months, will have the big psychological edge.

The statement that the Braves at present are outhitting the Athletics may seem surprising But it is true The Braves as a team entire, are hitting about 20 points under the Atheltics. But, when the Braves meet the Athletics they will hurl against their enemy their full hitting strength, both in pitching catching and in the field.

The Braves' trio of pitchers is batting for a .208 mark now Bender and Plank, who will do the bulk of the pitching for the Athletics, are hitting for an average of .138 However, to give the Athletics the full benefit of their hitting power, the averages of the three youthful pitchers who may get a chance to work in the series was included in the averages. Two of these are batting over .200, while the third, Bush, is hitting 184. With the averages of these three added to those of Bender and Plank, it gives the Athletic pitching staff a grand batting average of .176

Some, in figuring the relative batting strength of the two teams, will not figure in the pitchers. But why shouldn't the pitchers be figured in? A pitcher constitutes one-ninth of a team's hitting strength. His strength or weakness as a hitter adds or detracts just one-ninth to or from the team's offensive power.

Here are the averages:

Infield Records.

FARMER CAN PROFIT BY EUROPEAN WAR

WILL BE HEAVY DEMAND FOR HORSES FROM THIS COUNTRY

AGENTS OF NATIONS ARE BUSY

This Country Is Being Scoured At Present To Find Good Cavalry Stock

Washington, Oct. 5—During the next decade there will probably be an increased demand for American horses in the countries now engaged in the European war The demand may even continue much longer, according to investigators of the U. S. department of agriculture, as not only will horses be needed for armies, but when peace is restored, more will be needed for agriculture. Already European agents are said to be endeavoring to purchase horses in this country and Canada, and there is an increased interest in many sections in horse breeding

To meet this increased European demand American farmers may well endeavor to raise well bred horses, although the department of agriculture does not advise them to purchase a surplus of horses merely for breeding purposes. It merely advises that ordinary farm work should be done whenever possible by good mares which should be bred to good stallions. It also desires to emphasize the fact that only horses of high quality may be profitably raised today Inferior horses are a drug on the market, and their production is to be discouraged as much as the production of good horses should be encouraged.

The United States has previously been drawn on to supply European countries at war. In the Boer war over 100,000 horses were bought here by the British government It may be doubted whether a foreign government could now obtain a similar supply in this country, except at excessive cost. However, if farmers take pains to utilize their good mares during this winter to breed them to good stallions, in the course of several years (time enough for the foals to develop), America will be better able to meet the European demand.

It is natural that European countries should look to the United States for horses, as next to Russia it has more of these animals than any other country in the world The United States and Russia possess 58 per cent of the world supply Strange to say, however, there were no horses originally on our continent and the present supply comes from stock brought over from Europe. Canada's War As a Consumer.

The German army requires for a complete mobilization 770,000 horses and the French army is said to require 250,000, which figure, however, probably includes only those for the cavalry. It is conservatively estimated on good authority that 1,000,000 horses are now engaged in the European war. As the great majority of these horses are not included in the permanent military organization but are used for farm work and are requisitioned by governments only when needed for military purposes, the countries of continental Europe will certainly face an acute shortage of farm horses before the next planting season which will seriously affect the price of horses the world over, as soon as peace is declared.

According to the best information horses in the countries of Europe now at war number as follows:

Great Britain—2,231,000
France—3,222,000.
Belgium—263,000.
Germany—4,523,000
Austria-Hungary—4,274,000
Russia—24,652,000.
Total—39,265,000.

In addition England has a supply of about six millions to draw on in her various dependencies. Russia has about ten millions in Asia and France probably 500,000 to one million in her colonies.

The rapacious consumption of horses in war is illustrated by figures from our own civil conflict During his Shenandoah Valley campaign, Sheridan was supplied with fresh horses at the rate of 150 per day. In his report for the year 1865, the quartermaster general of the U S. army stated: 'The service of a cavalry horse under an enterprising commander has averaged only four months" During 1864 there were 500 horses consumed per day in the northern army, without considering those captured and not reported During eight months of that year, the cavalry of the army of the Potomac was remounted twice, nearly 40,000 horses in all being required.

Our Own Army a Market.

Our own army furnishes a desirable market for well bred horses, there being under the remount system, at least 5,000 horses required annually to supply both the army and the national guard. There are now about 20,000 horses in our regular army on a peace basis. In war, many more would be required before the first engagement. There is, therefore, a steady market for good horses independent of the European demand. Even the invasion of motor power which has reduced the number of horses on our streets has not influenced this demand. In fact, the price of horses has advanced along with other commodities during recent years.

The bureau of animal industry of the U. S. department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., stands ready to aid the farmer desiring to breed

SEVERAL ORDERS ISSUED BY SECRETARY OF NAVY

Regulations More Strict As To Sailors Who Get Drunk While on Shore Leave

The report recently current to the effect that the navy did not want deserters back has been confirmed by a late message from Secretary of the Navy, Daniels. The rumor was somewhat confused, however, because the navy really does want them back, but not to put in prison. They are wanted back so that they may be presented with a heavy fine and a dishonorable discharge. Recruiting officers are instructed not to apprehend deserters; but if a private citizen should capture him, the private citizen gets the regular reward.

Along with this order came several others that have recently been issued by the new secretary of the navy If a sailor or a marine or a soldier gets a furlough for a certain length of time and overstays it twenty-four hours without wiring for and getting a permit from a commanding officer, he will come in for a court martial and can be discharged or a heavy fine and imprisonment given him The discretion of the commanding officer is relied on to distinguish between deserving cases and those that are not

If a sailor is caught drunk when on a short shore leave, he is liable to a dishonorable discharge or a heavy fine and imprisonment, according to the disposition of the commanding officer. That officer is supposed to distinguish between deserving and undeserving cases.

The reason for this strict order, it is held, is because in time of peace, any one who deserts or becomes intoxicated on short leave has demonstrated his unfitness for the ranks. It is best to rid the ranks of such men while the country is at peace, it is thought. Drunkenness ashore has given rise to the saying, "As drunk as a sailor," by private citizens and it is held that it is one of the chief reasons why there is so much friction between those of the ranks and those not in the ranks.

DEBATE ON BANK BILL POSTPONED TO NETX WEEK

No debate on the bank of Texas bill was held at the meeting of the Young Men's Forum Monday night on account of the absence of some of those who were to have taken part. The same question will be debated next Monday night. Last night's program was brief, consisting of three short talks as follows: "Belgium," John Gould; "Texas and Good Roads," J. Romer; "The Heathen Nations and the War," Chas. Crowell.

Next Monday night's program follows: Debate 'Resolved, that the pending Bank of Texas bill should be enacted by the Legislature;" affirmative, Messrs. Settle and Fuller; negative, ta's Independence on Europe as Demonstrated by the War," Ambrose Yeager. Short talks on selected topics by Floyd Miller and John Butts.

At an early meeting the Forum plans to have a debate upon the question of where the present war rests. Some of the members are partisans of Germany and will defend the Kaiser's side of the controversy.

DEBATERS OF UNIVERSITY PLANNING MANY CONTESTS

University Station, Oct. 6.—The debating interest of the University has received a decided impetus, through the generosity of W. E Pope of Corpus Christi, an attorney and graduate of the University Through the recently organized law association of the University, Mr Pope offers a cash prize of $100 each year for a period of five years to the best individual debater in the law department. This prize will probably be awarded upon the occasion of the final try out of the intercollegiate debates. Judge Townes, dean of the law department, and Professor Shurter, chairman of the school of public speaking, are working out the detailed rules.

In addition to the Pope prize, it is expected that the Delta Sigma Rho, the honorary public speaking fraternity will offer a cash prize of the same or a larger amount in connection with the intercollegiate try outs. The University of Texas is now a member of two intercollegiate triangular debating leagues. The former pentagonal league of Southern State universities is now merged into a triangular league which consists of the University of Arkansas, Louisianan and Texas. The other triangular league is composed of the state universities of Colorado, Mississippi and Texas

The subject for the preliminary contests for places on the four intercollegiate debating teams is that of the minimum wage A large number of the students in the University are already hard at work preparing for the preliminaries which begin about December 1st The final contest at which the prize for the best debate will be awarded will be held at the auditorium of the law building one week prior to the final term examination

In addition to the debating contests, there is a freshman declamation contest for the E P. Wilmot prize, an oratorical contest for prizes offered by Ira H Evans, two state oratorical contests under the auspices of the Texas Intercollegiate Peace Association and the Texas State Oratorical Association, the State contests in debate and declamation of the University Interscholastic League, etc All told the contest in public speaking to be held at the University this season total ten in number.

Tommy goes to school, but can't keep up with Jimmie. Tommy's father and mother don't like this idea, so they keep prodding him until he gets used to prodding—and still Jimmie keeps ahead. Somebody suggested that Tommy's eyes are weak and need glasses; perhaps the teacher makes this suggestion. Anyway, it is received with indignation. Tommy is in excellent health; his eyes are blue and clear and to suggest that he has bad eyes is ridiculous. So father and mother keep on prodding Tomy, with interspersions of complaints as to school and teacher. They are not what they were in the "good old days." Meantime Tommy keeps on dropping behind until he is old enough to rebel, when at last he quits the hated schoolhouse and goes to work.

Do you remember the once happy faces that lingered round the dear old fireside? Can you call to mind the smiling faces that once greeted you, and with the vision there comes a flood of tender memories. Are you fortunate enough to have those dear ones with you still? Or, have they long since passed away? If so, have you done your full duty in beautifying their last resting place in such a way that you are proud of it? Or, does your mind recall to you the negligence and forgetfulness so common to the human race? "Our hearts are full of good intentions, but our deeds fail to show them"

WHY WE ROAST COFFEE

We have been engaged in the Grocery Business under one roof, in Wichita Falls just a QUARTER OF A CENTURY. During all that time have made a special study of the coffee end of the business, believing it to be the most important article handled by the Grocery Trade.

We have handled at different times practically every brand of National reputation, and tested them all and were never entirely satisfied with any of them.

Several years ago we rigged up a small roaster and unknown to the public commenced to blend and roast our own coffees. Inside of sixty days our coffee trade had quadrupled and we had outgrown our little plant.

We immediately went East and after investigating all the makes of coffee roasting machinery, purchased the very best plant obtainable, and commenced to advertise the fact that we roasted our own coffees, and our business has increased to such an extent that we decided to dispose of our Grocery business and specialize in FRESH ROASTED COFFEES, Teas, Spices, Extracts and kindred lines including Sugar, Butter and Yard Eggs. Also retaining the Mineral Water Agencies.

Will continue at the old stand (608-10 Ohio Avenue) the balance of the year and on January first, 1915, will open at 824 Indiana Avenue (in the Joline Building) an up-to-date Coffee, Tea and Spice House along the lines indicated.

We roast the very best grades of coffee and truly believe our blends to be superior to others and best of all ROAST THEM FRESH EVERY DAY. Let us send you a trial pound that you may know the difference.

We handle CRAZY, GIBSON, TIOGA and MANITOU WATERS. O. W. BEAN & SON, Phone 35
